Competition Camellia Japonicas

If you are looking for "cheap" Camellias,--here they are:

Pot grown, shipped from 3 to 5" pots, ready for larger pots or lining out.

Strong, healthy plants, at give-away prices.

12-18" high at 2c per inch, or 24c to 36c per plant.

18-24" high, at 2c per inch, or 36c to 48c per plant.

30-36" high, at 2c per inch, or 60c to 72c per plant.

Priced on basis of 21 cents per foot, measurement above pot.

Minimum order filled at these prices, $5.00, with guarantee of 21 feet of Camellias. Carefully packed without extra charge. 1000 feet of stock is offered at these prices.

Not more than 100 feet sold to one customer.

Since Camellia importations were barred from Europe by Quarantine 37, practically all nurseries selling these plants in this country, offer them simply by color red, pink, white or varigated, or as mixed varieties, without reference to horticultural names, forms of flower or natural period of blooming.

Such sales might be termed, buying a "CAT IN A BAG."

The above Camellias are "CATS IN A BAG", so far as colors, forms and names are concerned. They are vigorous plants, sold at less than depression prices.

Many nurserymen in the South have customers who call for Camellias without regard to horticultural variety, color, etc. Many retail buyers simply want "CHEAP" plants. Try a sample order of 21 feet for $5.00 and you will find they will prove to be money makers.

SEEDLING CAMELLIAS

Domestic seed collected from very old, vigorous parent trees.

Most of the seed was taken from large semi-double flowering plants, and a good percentage of these seedlings should develop fine varieties of flowers, and nice broadleaf evergreen ornamentals. Stock offered is from seed germinated in Fall 1931.
